Storage that works

By offering the industry's widest selection of freestanding storage, we make it easy to provide solutions for what people really store in their workspace. Our products' steel construction, timeless design and unrivalled quality ensure enduring value for clients.

Customization is standard

Office Specialty offers many unique and innovative solutions for shared or multi-user workplace environments. Specialized products like Cubbi-Stor™ (individual locker storage) and Secure File (for high security materials) effectively meet specific needs anywhere in the office.

Why does storage matter?

What we store has changed!

It can carry power and data, support worksurfaces, serve as whiteboards and more!

Integrate & unify.

Combine our products with any system – new or existing. Match heights and finishes to unify the space. Save 50% of the workstation cost while reusing valuable existing components.

Save space. Save money.

Efficient design means you use up to 25% less space. Storage spine planning reduces the workstation footprint, increases storage and reduces components required. Use that extra space for future growth or for a new collaborative area.

Planning with storage is not a conventional way of approaching design, but the advantages are obvious to those in the know.

Founded as Office Specialty™ in 1888 in Rochester, New York, the company forged an early reputation for reliable, high quality filing and storage products. Expanding our offerings while maintaining top quality design and manufacturing standards, Office Specialty grew steadily throughout the 20th century.

1888: getting organized for success

That 1888 was a leap year doesn't seem surprising given the significant strides occurring on all sections of the map. In Washington, the National Geographic Society was forming and Susan B. Anthony was organizing a congress for women's rights. Up the coast, George Eastman was registering the name Kodak while finalizing a patent for his newfangled camera. In Brazil, the final remnants of slavery were at long last being eradicated.

And in the thriving port of Montreal, a small office was being established for the selling of office furniture and supplies. This office represented the first foray into the Canadian market for a Rochester-based company called Office Specialty Manufacturing Company Limited, whose purpose, though basic, was quickly gaining value. Two industrial revolutions had shown people the importance of productivity, and the company from Rochester was highlighting an equally vital principle: to be productive, you need to be organized. Amid a world suddenly flooded with order forms, shipping slips and invoices, companies were quickly coming to recognize the difference a few good filing cabinets could make.

Later in the year, Office Specialty opened another sales office in the burgeoning industrial center and cultural mosaic of Toronto, whose bustling economy and favorable location helped position the company to serve a broader customer base. Today, Office Specialty continues to help businesses get organized for success.

Our products are level 2, GREENGUARD and Cradle-to-Cradle certified, and almost 100% recyclable. Our commitment to level® certification reflects our belief that sustainability is defined by multiple perspectives, including a company's social actions, energy usage, material selection and human and ecosystem health impacts.

Equally important, our products are built to last and are completely reconfigurable so they can adapt as workspace needs change.
